This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. TRANSPORTATION BUILDING.

The main building measures 960 feet front by 250 deep. From this extends westward to Stony Island avenue an enormous annex covering about nine acres. This annex is one story in height. The building is simple in architectural treatment, but very rich and elaborate in detail. In style it savors of the Romanesque. The main entrance to the building consists of an immense single arch, enriched to an extraordinary degree with carvings and bas-reliefs. The interior of the building is treated after the manner of a Roman basilica, with broad nave and aisles. The cupola placed exactly in the center of the building rises 165 feet above the ground and is reached by eight elevators. The building cost about $300,000. Architects, Adler & Sullivan, of Chicago.

There are three general divisions of exhibits in this department: The railway, marine and the vehicle divisions. For the most part the railway exhibits will be found in the large annex which was built especially for heavy exhibits of this character. The vehicle exhibits occupy the northern end of the main building and the annex; the marine exhibits, a portion of the southern-central part of the main building and the southern portion of the east gallery; the bicycle and saddlery exhibits, the northern gallery.

On entering the building at the golden door, the visitor finds first at his right the exhibit of Great Britain. The English railway exhibit is located in the annex in Sections U and V. North of the British exhibit will be found that of Canada.

Returning again to the golden door, the visitor turning to the left will observe the French section, including a large display of fine vehicles and some railway machinery.

Immediately to the south of the French space will be found the exhibits of Russia, Austria, Turkey and Japan. Following these, to the south, is the principal portion of the American marine exhibit. The entire south end of the main building and the annex is devoted to the great exhibit of the German empire.

The main portion of the annex, from the English exhibit in Section U to the German exhibit in Section G, is occupied by a vast collection of American cars, locomotives and railway appliances of every possible description.

Beginning at the north and occupying very nearly the center of the annex is the exhibit prepared by the Baltimore & Ohio Railway Co., known as "The Railways of the World." To the south of this is an exhibit of two trains of Pullman palace cars. Following this exhibit are passenger cars, various forms of freight, street and tram cars and an exceedingly large variety of locomotives representing every locomotive building establishment in the United States but two.

The gallery, or entresol floor of the main building, is large and excellently lighted. It is accessible by six staircases and five elevators. The elevators in the center of the building do not stop on the gallery floor, but carry visitors at ten cents each to the dome, roof promenade and roof café. The southern end of the gallery is occupied by a comprehensive exhibit by the associated engineering societies of Germany. The southern portion of the east gallery is devoted to marine, and the northern to bicycles. The north end of gallery is devoted to saddlery. The northwestern gallery belongs to the British section and contains bicycles and interesting loan exhibits. The southwestern gallery includes the marine division of the French and Spanish section, the Netherlands and the Cape of Good Hope.

At the north end of the Horticultural Building is the exhibit of the White Star Line. The exhibit of Krupp, Essen, Germany, consisting of railway and naval material and heavy ordnance, is located in a special building on the lake shore at the southwestern portion of the grounds, between the Convent of La Rabida and the Leather Building.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

For the purpose of the installation of exhibits the Transportation Building and Annex are divided into sections, lettered from "A" to "Z." Section "A" is the north end of the Annex; section "B" is the north end of the main building; sections "C" and "D" form the central court, and "E" the south end of the main building. The remaining sections are in the Annex, and consist of aisles running the length of the Annex. Along each aisle is a row of posts, numbered, and the sides of the aisles are indicated as "north" and "south." Thus, an exhibit located in the catalogue at "O-N-bet. 9 and 10," is on the north side of aisle or section "O," between posts numbered 9 and 10. The sections in the main building are divided into blocks, and the two rows of columns extending the length of the building are numbered. An exhibit located at "A-8" is in section "A," block 8. An exhibit located "B-4, opp. 3," is in section "B," block 4, opposite column 3. These divisions and blocks appear on the plan in this catalogue.

The entresol or gallery floor is divided into seven sections, lettered from "A" to "G." The columns are numbered. Exhibits in the gallery are indicated by the abbreviation "Gal." An exhibit located "Gal. E-42" is in gallery section E, opposite or near column 42.

DEPARTMENT G.

TRANSPORTATION—RAILWAYS, VESSELS, VEHICLES.

GROUP 80.

RAILWAYS, RAILWAY PLANT AND EQUIPMENT.

Class 499. Railway construction and maintenance—maps, profiles, etc. Grading, track-laying and ballasting machinery. Samples of Standard Permanent Way. Systems of drainage. Ballast, culverts, ties, methods of preserving ties. Rails, rail fastenings, frogs, crossings, switches, etc. Cattle guards. Railway bridges, trestles, viaducts, with models and drawings. Tunneling, with machinery, models, maps. Methods of constructing, lighting and ventilating tunnels. Turn-tables and transfer-tables. Water supply and machinery and fixtures used by railroads in connection therewith. Track tools. Systems of maintenance. Snow sheds and other protection against snow. General plans, elevations and models of stations and other railroad structures.

Class 500. Railway equipment—locomotives for passenger and freight service. Locomotive appliances—head lights, bells, whistles, brake valves and apparatus, etc. Plans, drawings and photographs of locomotives and locomotive shops.

Passenger cars—mail, baggage and express coaches, drawing-room, parlor, dining, officers' and private cars, etc. Passenger car furnishings and appliances.

Freight cars—box, caboose, stock, horse, milk, refrigerator and other varieties. Working cars—sweeping, ditching, wrecking, etc.; snow plows, hand, inspection, push and velocipede cars, baggage barrows and trucks. Freight car appliances of all descriptions. Plans, drawings and photographs of cars and car works.

Class 501. Railway operation—purchasing department. Methods of purchasing, storing and distributing material and disposition of condemned material. Railway stationery.

Mechanical department—organization. Records, plans and management of shops. Devices for coaling locomotives, etc. Testing laboratories. Machines, apparatus and methods of testing.

General train management—dispatching, signaling, etc. Speed indicators and recorders. Interlocking switches and signals, block systems, etc. Crossing protection by gates, signals, etc. Wrecking tools and appliances. Plans of yards and methods of storing, cleaning and keeping cars. Car interchange and inspection. Systems of accounting, records, tracers.

Railway employes—methods of testing for color-blindness, etc. Uniforms, organizations, etc. Railway sanitation and surgery and appliances used therein.

Class 502. Railway management—legal department, treasury and accounting departments, passenger department. Advertising. Tickets, ticket cases, punches, baggage checks, etc. Freight department, methods of rate-making, soliciting, handling, billing, etc.; plans, arrangements and appliances for handling and housing of freight. Freight-handling machinery, track scales, apparatus for transferring grain from car to car. Traffic associations, their objects, methods, etc.

Class 503. History and statistics, exemplified by exhibits of old locomotives, cars, track material and other relics. Railway law and legislation. Railway technical engineering and mechanical associations. Railway literature.

GROUP 81.

STREET CAR AND OTHER SHORT LINE SYSTEMS.

Class 504. Cable roads and cars. Construction, equipment, methods of operation. Grips and other appliances.
Class 505. Electric railway cars. Systems of track construction, equipment and supplies for electric roads, methods of operation, appliances and furnishings.
Class 506. Cars for street railways or tramways operated by horse-power or other means of propulsion not specified. Construction. Equipment and supplies. Methods of operation.
Class 507. Elevated and underground railways. Plans, models and maps, showing systems of construction. Systems of operation and maintenance.

GROUP 82.

MISCELLANEOUS AND SPECIAL RAILWAYS.

Class 508. Mountain railways, spirals, switchbacks, rack rails and all systems for climbing inclines, ship railways, multiple speed railways (moving platforms and sidewalks), gravity roads, sliding railways, plans, profiles, drawings, photographs and models.

GROUP 83.

VEHICLES AND METHODS OF TRANSPORTATON ON COMMON ROADS.

Class 509. Hand-barrows, wheel-barrows, trunk and barrel-trucks.
Class 510. Carts, trucks, drays, farm wagons, garden truck wagons.
Class 511. Freight wagons and other heavy wagons for special purposes, beer wagons, express wagons, wagons for moving heavy objects, as timbers, stone, iron, etc. Sprinkling carts. (For fire engines and ladder trucks see Group 70.)
Class 512. Large wagons for pleasure parties, picnic parties and excursions, "breaks," "barges," "wagonettes," etc.
Class 513. Omnibuses, herdics, cabs, hansoms, etc.

MANUFACTURES AND LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING.

DEPARTMENT OF MANUFACTURES.

Dimensions, 1,687 by 787 feet. Height of walls, 66 feet. Height of four center pavilions, 122 feet. Height of four corner pavilions, 97 feet. Height of roof over central hall, 237.6 feet. Height of roof-truss over central hall, 212.9 feet. Height clear, from the floor, 202.9 feet. Span of truss, 382 feet. Span in the clear, 354 feet. Width of truss at base, 14 feet; at hip, 32 feet; at apex, 10 feet. Weight of truss, 300,000 pounds; with purlines, 400,000 pounds. Ground area of building, 30.47 acres. Floor area, including galleries, 44 acres. Cost, $1,700,000. Material—17,000,000 feet of lumber; 12,000,000 pounds of steel in trusses of central hall; 2,000,000 pounds of iron in roof of nave. Architect, Geo. B. Post, of New York.

The building is rectangular in form, and the interior is divided into a great centra hall, 380 by 1,280 feet, which is surrounded by a nave 107 feet wide. Both hall and nave have a 50-foot gallery extending entirely around them.

It is in the Corinthian style of architecture and in point of being severely classic excels most of the other large edifices. The long array of columns and arches which its facades present is relieved from monotony by the grand entrances, which are designed in the manner of triumphal arches, the central archway of each being 40 feet wide and 80 feet high. Surmounting these portals is the great attic story, ornamented with sculptured eagles 18 feet high, and on each side above the arches are great panels with inscriptions. The spandrels are filled with sculptured figures in bas-relief. At each corner of the main building are pavilions designed in harmony with the great portals.

The domes on either side of the main archways, eight in number, are magnificently decorated by leading American artists, the subjects being allegorical figures representing the arts and sciences. Extending all around the building is a spacious colonnade nearly a mile long, which looks out upon the lake or lagoon and forms a cool retreat for the tired sight-seers. The exterior of the building is covered with staff, which is treated to represent marble, and the columns and window arches are apparently of this material.

This building is the largest in the world, and is the largest under roof ever erected. Its unequaled size makes it one of the architectual wonders of the world. The central hall which is a single room without a supporting pillar under its roof, has in its floor a fraction less than eleven acres, and 75,000 persons can sit in this room, giving each one six square feet of space. By the same arrangement, the entire building will seat 300,000 people. It is theoretically possible to mobilize the standing army of Russia under its roof. The Auditorium is the most notable building in Chicago, but twenty such buildings could be placed on this floor. There are 11 acres of skylights and 40 carloads of glass in the roof. There are 22 main trusses in the roof of the central hall, and it required 600 flat cars to bring them from the iron works to Chicago. These trusses are twice the size of the next largest in existence, which are 90 feet high and span 250 feet. The latter are in the Pennsylvania railroad depot at Jersey City.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

The Department of Manufactures occupies all of the ground floor of the building, except Section I, in the southeast corner, which is occupied by the Department of Liberal Arts. The Manufactures department also occupies gallery, Sections F and G. The main floor is divided into sixteen sections, lettered from A to Q, and each section is divided into four blocks, numbered from 1 to 4, except Sections A. I, H and Q, which have three blocks. By consulting the ground plan in this catalogue these floor divisions can be located. The exhibits in manufactures are installed by classified groups, collectively, and the location of each group is indicated under the group head in the catalogue. For example, all the exhibits of jewelry, embraced in Group 98, are installed in Section N, Block 1. All silk goods, classified as Group 100, are in Section O, Block 1. The location of the foreign countries is indicated under their entries in the catalogue.

ELECTRICITY BUILDING.

The Electricity Building carries out the Spanish renaissance idea, modified by a Corinthian treatment. It is 345 feet wide and 700 feet long. The general scheme of the plan is based upon a longitudinal nave 115 feet wide and 114 feet high, crossed in the middle by a transept of the same width and height.

The exterior walls are composed of a continuous Corinthian order of pilasters, 8 feet 6 inches wide and 42 feet high, supporting a full entablature and resting upon a stylobate 8 feet 6 inches. The total height of the walls from the grade outside is 68 feet 6 inches. At each of the four corners of the building is a pavilion, above which rises an open tower 150 feet high.

The building has an open portico along the whole of the south facade, the lower or Ionic order forming an open screen in front of it. The various subordinate pavilions are treated with windows and balconies. The details of the exterior orders are richly decorated, and the pediments, friezes, panels and spandrels have received a decoration of figures in relief, with architectural motifs, the general tendency of which is to illustrate the purposes of the building. In the hemicycle on the south front stands the fine statue of Franklin, by Rohl-Smith.

The appearance of the exterior is that of marble, but the walls of the hemicycle and of the various porticoes and loggias are highly enriched with color, the pilasters in these places being decorated with scagliola, and the capitals with metallic effects in bronze. The building with its large window spaces and high central and corner towers is especially designed for electrical illumination by night, and considered as part of this display are the beautiful electric fountains which show their magic splendors at the head of the basin to the south of the building. The architects of the Electricity Building are Van Brunt & Howe, of Kansas City.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

For the purpose of the installation of exhibits, the Electricity Building is divided into sections, lettered from "A" to "Z." On the main floor the sections are numbered from "A" to "Q," and on the gallery floor from "R" to "Z." The sections are divided into exhibit spans, which are numbered. By consulting the floor plan in this catalogue the sections can be easily located. The location of exhibits are indicated in the catalogue by a letter and a number. For example, "V-5" means that the exhibit is in Section "V," which is in the gallery, and exhibit space 5

Class 802. Signaling apparatus.
Class 803. Long distance systems.

Class 804. Various systems of operation.
Class 805. Subscribers' apparatus—numbers, code, registers, etc.
Class 806. Phonographs—receiving and recording apparatus.
Class 807. Apparatus for the reproduction of recorded sounds and articulate speech.

GROUP 135.

ELECTRICITY IN SURGERY, DENTISTRY AND THERAPEUTICS.

Class 808. Cautery apparatus.
Class 809. Apparatus for the application of the electrical current as a remedial agent—surgical and dental.
Class 810. Apparatus for diagnosis.
Class 811. Apparatus for the destruction of life.

GROUP 136.

APPLICATION OF ELECTRICITY IN VARIOUS WAYS NOT HEREINBEFORE SPECIFIED.

Class 812. Ignition of explosives; gas lighting, etc.
Class 813. Control of heating apparatus by electricity, as applied to steam and hot air pipes and registers.
Class 814. Electric pens.
Class 815. Application in photography.

GROUP 137.

HISTORY AND STATISTICS OF ELECTRICAL INVENTION.

Class 816. Objects illustrating the development of the knowledge of electricity and of the application of electricity in the arts.
Class 817. Collections of books and publications upon electricity and its applications.

ART PALACE.

Grecian-Ionic in style, the Fine Arts Building is a pure type of the most refined classic architecture. The structure comprises three large pavilions known as the Central, East and West Pavilion. Its total length, east and west, is 1,120 feet, and its extreme width, north and south, 500 feet. The Central Pavilion, an oblong building measuring 500x320 feet, is intersected by a great nave and a transept, each 100 feet wide and 70 feet high. At their intersection is a dome 60 feet in diameter and 125 feet high, surmounted by a colossal statue of the type of the famous figure of Winged Victory. The transept has a clear space through the center of 60 feet, being lighted entirely from above. On either side are galleries 20 feet wide and 24 feet above the floor. The collections of sculptures and architectural casts are displayed on the main floor of the nave and transept, and here also, on the walls, are shown drawings and sculptured panels in relief. The sections bounded by the nave and the transept are filled with picture galleries, ranging from 30x30 feet to 36x120 feet in area. The Central Pavilion is entered by four great portals, richly ornamented with architectural sculpture and approached by broad flights of steps. The East and West Pavilions have entrances from the Central Pavilion and on their north and south fronts. The walls of the loggia of the colonnades are highly decorated with sculptural fragments from the antique. All light is supplied through glass skylights in iron frames.

The building is located in the northern portion of the park, with the south front facing the lagoon, from which it is separated by terraces ornamented with balustrades. A flight of steps leads down from the main portal to the lagoon, where there is a landing for boats. The immediate neighborhood of the building is ornamented with groups of statues, replicas of classic art, such as the Choragic monument, etc. Architect, C. B. Atwood, of Chicago, Designer-in-Chief of the Exposition.

ART PALACE.

Grecian-Ionic in style, the Fine Arts Building is a pure type of the most refined classic architecture. The building is oblong, and is 500x320 feet, intersected north, south, east and west by a great nave and transept 100 feet wide and 70 feet high, at the intersection of which is a dome 60 feet in diameter. The building is 125 feet to the top of the dome, which is surmounted by a colossal statue of the type of the famous figure of Winged Victory. The transept has a clear space through the center of 60 feet, being lighted entirely from above. On either side are galleries 20 feet wide and 24 feet above the floor. The collections of sculptures are displayed on the main floor of the nave and transept, and on the walls, both of the ground floor and of the galleries, are ample areas for displaying the paintings and sculptured panels in relief. The corners made by the crossing of the nave and transept are filled with small picture galleries. Around the entire building are galleries 40 feet wide, forming a continuous promenade. Between the promenade and the naves are the smaller rooms devoted to private collections of paintings and the collections of the various art schools. On either side of the main building, and connected with it by handsome corridors, are very large annexes. The main building is entered by four great portals, richly ornamented with architectural sculpture and approached by broad flights of steps. The walls of the loggia of the colonnades are highly decorated with mural paintings, illustrating the history and progress of the arts. The frieze of the exterior walls and the pediments of the principal entrances are ornamented with sculptures and portraits in bas-relief of the masters of ancient art. All light is supplied through glass skylights in iron frames.

The building is located in the northern portion of the park, with the south front facing the lagoon. It is separated from the lagoon by terraces ornamented with balustrades, with an immense flight of steps leading down from the main portal to the lagoon, where there is a landing for boats. The immediate neighborhood of the building is ornamented with groups of statues, replica ornaments of classic art, such as the Choragic monument, the "Cave of the Winds," and other beautiful examples of the Grecian art. The ornamentation also includes statues of heroic and life-size proportions. Architect, P. B. Atwood, of Chicago, Designer-in-Chief of the Exposition.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

This building, which is expressly devoted to the exhibit of fine arts, painting, sculpture and statuary, is a central figure in itself, and is divided into four great courts known as the north, south, east and west courts. These lead into a massive space known as the central dome. Each space for exhibits is indicated by a number in connection with the court in which it is located. In connection with the main building are pavilions located at each corner, where exhibits will also be shown, an exterior colonnade extending from each pavilion to the north and south courts. The paintings, sculpture and groups of statuary are each indicated in regular numerical order. The location of the exhibit will be found by referring to the name of the exhibitor in the catalogue and then glancing at the diagram where the court, or gallery, containing the exhibit is shown, together with the number of the painting, etc. The exhibits in the loggias, and also on the second floor, are indicated in like manner.

MANUFACTURES AND LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING.

DEPARTMENT OF LIBERAL ARTS.

Dimensions, 1,687 by 787 feet. Height of walls, 66 feet. Height of four center pavilions, 122 feet. Height of four corner pavilions, 97 feet. Height of roof over central hall, 237.6 feet. Height of roof-truss over central hall, 212.9 feet. Height clear, from the floor, 202.9 feet. Span of truss, 382 feet. Span in the clear, 354 feet. Width of truss at base, 14 feet; at hip, 32 feet; at apex, 10 feet. Weight of truss, 300,000 pounds; with purlines, 400,000 pounds. Ground area of building, 30.47 acres. Floor area, including galleries, 44 acres. Cost, $1,700,000. Material—17,000,000 feet of lumber; 12,000,000 pounds of steel in trusses of central hall; 2,000,000 pounds of iron in roof of nave. Architect, Geo. B. Post, of New York.

The building is rectangular in form, and the interior is divided into a great central hall, 380 by 1,280 feet, which is surrounded by a nave 107 feet wide. Both hall and nave have a 50-foot gallery extending entirely around them.

It is in the Corinthian style of architecture, and in point of being severely classic excels most of the other large edifices. The long array of columns and arches which its façades present is relieved from monotony by the grand entrances, which are designed in the manner of triumphal arches, the central archway of each being 40 feet wide and 80 feet high. Surmounting these portals is the great attic story, ornamented with sculptured eagles 18 feet high, and on each side above the arches are great panels with inscriptions. The spandrels are filled with sculptured figures in bas-relief. At each corner of the main building are pavilions designed in harmony with the great portals.

The domes on either side of the main archways, eight in number, are magnificently decorated by leading American artists, the subjects being allegorical figures representing the arts and sciences. Extending all around the building is a spacious colonnade nearly a mile long, which looks out upon the lake or lagoon, and forms a cool retreat for the tired sight-seers. The exterior of the building is covered with staff, which is treated to represent marble, and the columns and window arches are apparently of this material.

This building is the largest in the world, and is the largest under roof ever erected. Its unequaled size makes it one of the architectural wonders of the world. The central hall, which is a single room without a supporting pillar under its roof, has in its floor a fraction less than eleven acres, and 75,000 persons can sit in this room, giving each one six square feet of space. By the same arrangement, the entire building will seat 300,000 people. It is theoretically possible to mobilize the standing army of Russia under its roof. The Auditorium is the most notable building in Chicago, but twenty such buildings could be placed on this floor. There are 11 acres of skylights and 40 carloads of glass in the roof. There are 22 main trusses in the roof of the central hall, and it required 600 flat cars to bring them from the iron works to Chicago. These trusses are twice the size of the next largest in existence, which are 90 feet high and span 250 feet. The latter are in the Pennsylvania railroad station at Jersey City.

KEY TO INSTALLATION.

The exhibits in the Liberal Arts department occupy all of the gallery space, except Sections F and G, which are devoted to exhibits in the department of Manufactures. The Liberal Arts department also occupies Section I, in the southeast corner, on the main floor, where all musical instruments are installed. The sections in the gallery are lettered from A to K, for the purpose of locating exhibits. The gallery columns are numbered from south to north, or lengthwise with the building, from 1 to 108, and the cross columns from east to west are lettered from A to Z, west to east. The letter and number following an exhibit in the catalogue indicate the intersecting point of the column lines nearest the exhibit. The location sign "Gal. A, F-19" means that the exhibit is in Section A at the point where Column F and Column 19 meet.

The location of foreign exhibits is indicated under their entry in the catalogue.

CATHOLIC EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT. UNITED STATES. SECTION 1.

GROUP 147.

The archbishops of the United States, with Cardinal Gibbons of Baltimore presiding, at their meeting in Boston, July, 1890, issued an invitation to all in charge of Catholic educational institutions to unite in an educational exhibit at the Columbian Exposition. The preliminary arrangements were made by delegates at several meetings in Chicago and St. Louis. At the request of the archbishops Rt. Rev. J. C. Spaulding, D. D., Bishop of Peoria, consented to become president, and Brother Maurelian, F. S. C. (president of Christian Brothers College of Memphis, Tenn.), consented to act as secretary and manager of the Catholic educational exhibit.

Exhibits will be presented by normal schools, universities, colleges, art schools, schools of science and technology, high schools, academies, commercial schools, industrial and manual training schools, primary or kindergarten schools, orphanages, reformatories, schools for Indians, negroes, blind, deaf and dumb.

The exhibits include paintings, drawings and photographs of school buildings, chapels, churches, class-rooms, playgrounds, library, art, lecture and science halls, groups of teachers and pupils, music classes, sewing and embroidery classes, work-shops in industrial and training schools, etc.

The normal department presents normal manuals, sets of text-books, apparatus and appliances for instructing in all branches of literature, science and art, as also the work of teachers and normal students.

Work of pupils in plain and ornamental typewriting and shorthand, with illustrations whenever possible, will be exhibited in Christian doctrine, history of the United States, ancient and modern history, sacred history, church history, mythology, ancient and modern languages, compositions, essays, theses, debates, mathematics, astronomy, chemistry, physics, theory of music, logic and metaphysics, philosophy, hygiene, sanitation, meteorology, philology, political economy, civil government, mineralogy, geology, zoology, botany, horticulture, agriculture, forestry, conchology, ornithology, geography with maps and hypsometrical casts of cities and countries, commercial payers, bookkeeping, shorthand, specimen of painting, free-hand crayon, linear and mechanical drawings, drawings from nature and from the flat, perspective drawings, etc.; museums for object lessons, specimens from industrial schools of printing in colors and plain, electrotyping, tailoring, wood-carving, carpentry, shoe-making, iron-work, etc.; plain and fancy needle work, crochet, drawn-work, tapestry, lace-making, embroidery, painting on porcelain, wax-work, etc.

The colleges, academies and schools represented in the various classes of exhibits are in charge of the following orders, congregations and persons:

NORWAY.

Models and Representations of Ancient Vessels, etc.

GROUP 166.

1. Norwegian Commission. Viking ship "Norwegian," an exact reproduction of the vessel exhumed in 1880 from a mound at Gogstad, near Sandefjord, Norway, now preserved in the university at Christiania and known as the Gogstad-ship. In a sepulchre built in the vessel were found human remains, and it is supposed by archæologists that the vessel was buried with its Viking-chief in the mound, about the year 900. The fac-simile sailed from Norway via New York to Chicago, under the command of Capt. Magnus Anderson.
